WHALE COLOURING COMPETITION

In collaboration with The Kids' Cancer Project

Select and print your preferred illustration, get creative with your colouring in, then drop your creation into one of the Whale Tales entry boxes in the foyer of SEA LIFE Aquarium or Australian National Maritime Museum.

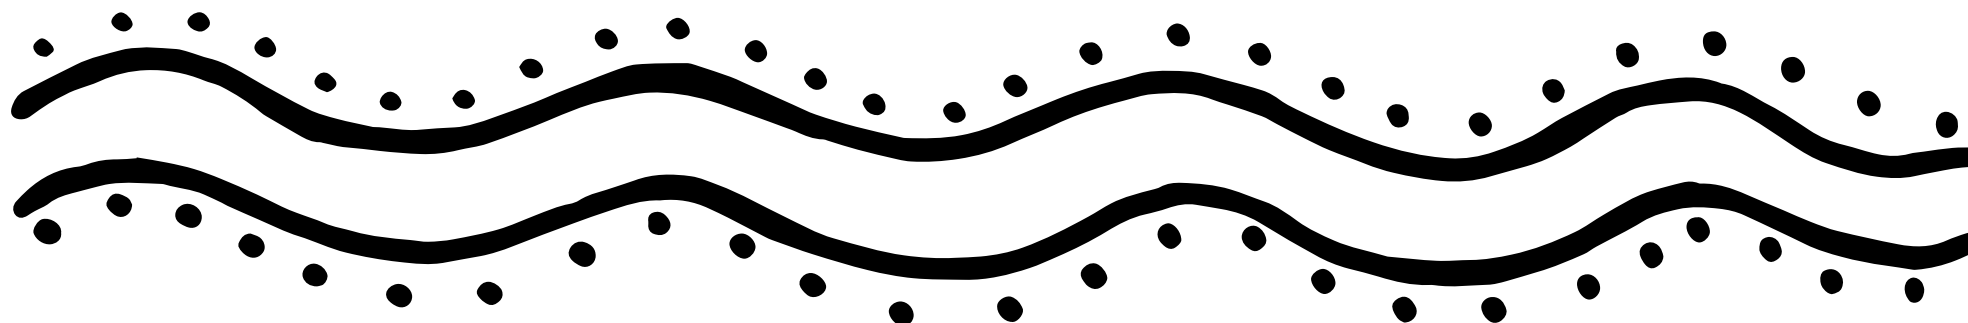

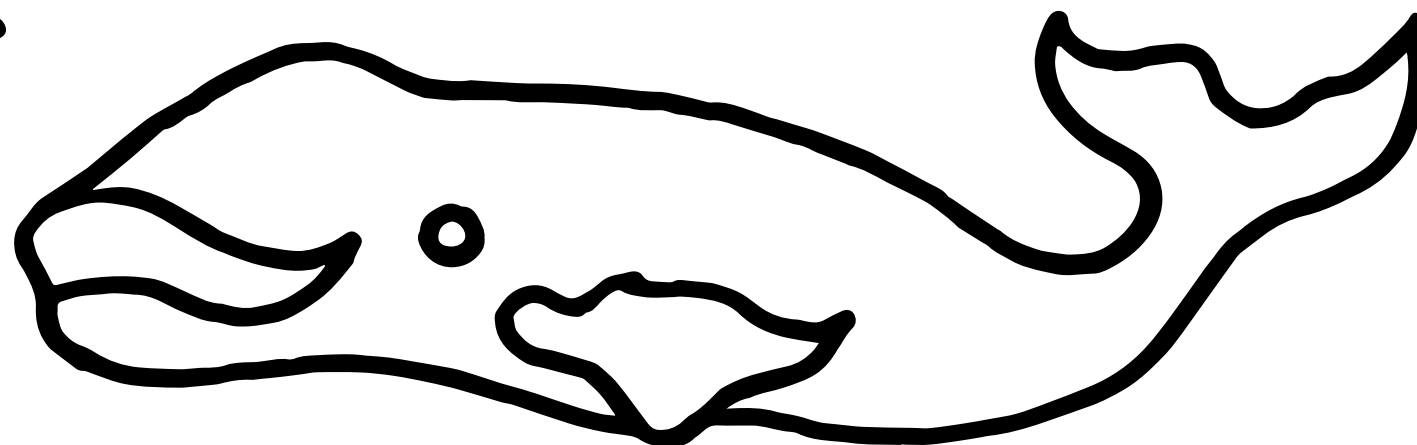

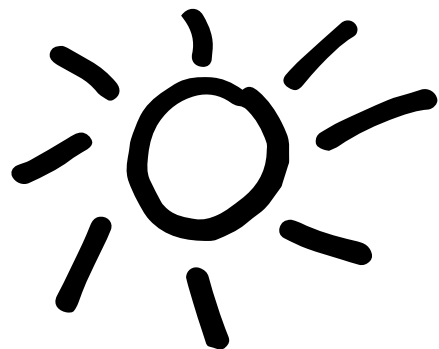

With thanks to Waterfront Whale Tales artists who provided these illustrations and Graham Toomey.

About my Whale Colouring: (your favourite Whale Tale, connection to place or design inspiration)

The Kids' Cancer Project are proud to be the sole beneficiaries of Waterfront Whale Tales, taking place along Sydney's Western Harbour from 11th August – 24th August.

The Kids' Cancer Project is an independent national charity that funds bold scientific research to find kinder, more effective treatments for every child diagnosed with cancer. With an ambitious vision of a 100% survival rate, the organisation believes that science is the solution to improving outcomes while eliminating the harmful impacts treatment can bring. Splash the Whale Tail with colour to win and make a difference in the fight against childhood cancer.
